BEAVERS DECLARES KNIGHT
IS "NURSING SORE SPOT"Chief Answers Councilman's Criticism Regarding Enforcement of Speed Law

It is all a question of whose ox is galled, remarked Chief of Police James L. Beavers Wednesday discussing an interview with Councilman C. D. Knight, who is quoted as saying in regard to speeding automobiles, "that there are a great many of laws in Atlanta, but nobody enforces them."

"Councilman Knight's criticism is as little harsh," says Chief Beavers, "as it is true. It seems to have been a short time ago he ran his automobile into a crowd at Five Points and ran over the foot of one pedestrian."

"He choked down his engine and got to be crank the car, leaving the driver in a predicament. As a result the machine started and a driver and it happened to be for the presence of mind of a citizen, a negro chauffeur, who had been done serious injury to other pedestrians."

"Councilman Knight didn't insist then that a case be made. Just the same he said before the recorder as the result of the occurrence."

"NURSING A SORE SPOT"

The councilman seems to be still nursing a sore spot on the result of the Five Points incident. The councilman should learn to run his own automobile more carefully before breaking a print with his criticism. If he had waited, when he was the offender, on a being made, I could better understand his attitude now."

Councilman Knight recently complains Mayor Woodward that the auto traffic laws are not being enforced by the police.

In the interview with the mayor he said to have quoted a conversation with an out-of-town friend.

The latter on seeing a speeder go unscathed through the streets, remarks, "Haven't you any speed laws in Atlanta?"

To this the councilman is said to have replied, "We have plenty of laws, but no one to enforce them."

Brought to Atlanta Tuesday afternoon after his arrest in Spartanburg, S. C., when he tried to pawn a gold and pearl pair of opera glasses bearing the initials "J. Haden, 1219 Peachtree street, Tuesday.

Chief Beavers was notified Tuesday morning that a man had been caught at a pawnshop with a diamond brooch and a pearl necklace in his possession. The jewelry was identified with the description of those stolen from the Haden residence, Chief Beavers said.

The police officer returned with his prisoner, Charles J. Haden, went to the home and identified the stolen jewelry as those of his wife. Then Reeves, the detective said, confessed.

Note Scrawled on a Wooden Box May Clear Mystery of Chapman Murder

NOTE THAT OFFICERS SAY STRENGTHENS CHARGE AGAINST WOMAN.

In the upper left-hand corner of the Chapman and Mrs. Charles Chapman at Calhoun in connection with the murder of Sid Chapman Saturday morning, Mrs. Mary Starnes, sister of the slain man, is seen standing in the doorway from which the young man said to have been shot. This door was open when the body was found, gun wads lying between the slain man and the doorway. Below is a photograph of the note, the most important clue in the case.

The note as interpreted by officers, reads: "Miss Nora Starnes I am going to leave and don't get mad at me for I can't help it (you know, supplied) that I haven't got nothing to do with it. Your friend SID CHAPMAN."

Officers Claim in Newest Discovery Strong Evidence Against Young Woman Accused of Slaying Gordon County Man

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CALHOUN, Ga., March 25.—Officers investigating the murder of Sid Chapman late yesterday in the yard of the Chapman home of a farworn note, bearing the name of the slain man, scrawled with pencil on the side of a small wooden box.

Although it has not been definitely established that the note was in the handwriting of the woman, officers discredited theories that it was written by her. The note, they claim, strengthens their contentions of trouble between the slain man and Mrs. Charles Chapman, his niece, who with her husband and mother, Mrs. Starnes, are held here for a commitment trial tomorrow, and draws the net of evidence more tightly about the young woman.

The note addressed to "Miss Nora Starnes," Mrs. Chapman's maiden name, apparently had been written on the box a few days. Officers are positive they say, that the box on which it was written had not been moved since the discovery of the body.

The fact that the Chapman could write very little probably will be a contention of the defense. Officers endeavor to show, however, that if the note was actually written by Chapman it was written at his direction.

The mysterious note reads: "Miss Nora Starnes, I am going to leave and don't get mad with me for I can't help it (you know) that I haven't got nothing to do with it. Your friend SID CHAPMAN."

Officers' theories.

The theory that officers claim best due the developments is that Charles Chapman, when he left his wife over two weeks ago, accompanied by his wife, and went to Chattanooga, did so because of differences with her. Chapman, on returning about a week later, is said to have been accused by the young woman as the cause of the differences. Officers claim that the alleged accusations, officers claim, were made by threats on the young woman's life. She is said to have threatened to take refuge in flight, wrote the note, protesting his innocence, but was slain before he left the house, according to the theories of the police.

The examination of the effects of the slain man showed that his clothing and other traveling necessities had been packed in his grip, as if he had planned to leave. It is said that his own illness delayed his plan to depart a day.

THIRD ARREST.

Charles Chapman, husband of one of the accused women, was arrested yesterday in DeKalb county and brought here today.

The home where the tragedy was enacted is an unpicturesque farm house in a pretty grove of oaks. The door to the left side of the rear of the house is

WORK ON WIDENING OF PEACHTREE PROGRESSES

Governor Halts Work Temporarily—Talk of Calling Out Militia, a Mistake

The work of widening Peachtree street, which was temporarily halted on Tuesday by Governor Slaton, is progressing again. The work was halted because of the cutting of the water supply to the city by the general assembly. The work was resumed on Wednesday morning. The work is progressing rapidly and it is expected that the street will be widened by the end of the month.

After he had stopped the work Tuesday morning, Governor Slaton had a conference with City Attorney James M. Hays, and upon examining the plans and obtaining the required permission for the widening of the street, he allowed the widening to proceed.

In a story published Tuesday afternoon it was erroneously stated that Governor Slaton had threatened to call out the militia and that somebody in the city was not immediately stopped. This story grew out of a joking remark by the work official on the street, the latter taking the remark seriously.

Governor Slaton has given out the following statement, which explains his action in halting the work on Peachtree street.

"When I started from the mansion Tuesday morning, I saw, to my surprise, that the iron fence was taken down and large trees had been cut and were being cut, and the lawn was being cut down for several feet from the street.

"There was no authority by law for such a course, and the resolution under which the work was being done only gave authority to the governor to grant permission within his discretion, and upon his approval of plans, etc. No plans had been submitted, nor request for approval.

"The resolution of 1910 authorizing the governor to permit the widening of the street is as follows: 'Whereas, a movement is on foot to widen Peachtree street in the city of Atlanta, and

"Whereas, the same would increase the value of property fronting thereon; 'Resolved, by the general assembly, that the governor be and he is authorized, in his discretion, to give a strip not exceeding twenty feet on the Peachtree front of the lot on which the governor's mansion is located, so as to cooperate with said plan of widening Peachtree street on such terms and conditions as he may approve.

"I stopped the work and went at once to the office of the chief of construction, and stated that there was no authority for the appropriation of the state's property, but I would endeavor to aid the city authorities as far as I could upon a proper contract being made.

"Subsequently, a blue print of the work was submitted, and an agreement was made to the effect that I would give my approval of the plan, and I exercised the discretion that was given me, and authorized the widening.

"It was stated to me that immediately after the Shriners' convention the buildings on the opposite side of the street would be cut so that the widening could occur on that side as well as on the side of the executive mansion. It is the duty of the governor to protect the state's property, and especially so in view of the fact that all of the state's property is pledged by the constitution to the payment of the state's debt, and the amount herein was 1,600 square feet of land on Peachtree street.

"The matter has now been agreed upon by executive order, embodying contract with the city.

WILL URGE SALE OF TWO FIRE STATIONS

Councilman Lee Says Property Can Be Sold and Money Reinvested to Advantage

Councilman Jesse Lee, of the Fifth ward, at a meeting of the fire committee of general council Wednesday afternoon, will ask the committee to approve his plan for selling the fire station on North Pryor street and the station on Carnegie way and reinvesting the proceeds of the sale in new apparatus and less expensive property. Councilman Lee estimates the value of the station on North Pryor street at $15,000. For this amount, he believes the city can buy a lot equally suitable and convenient for a fire station and build and equip a new station.

He estimates the value of the station on Carnegie way at $10,000, which amount he proposes to devote to modernizing the apparatus of the downtown stations, doing away with the Carnegie way station entirely. His idea is that the additional speed and service ability of motorized apparatus will more than offset the loss of one station.

Since the publication some days ago of Councilman Lee's plan a number of real estate dealers and property owners have offered lots to the city, among them being a lot at the corner of Houston street and Piedmont avenue. It is argued by those offering corner lots that such lots have superior advantages for fire station purposes, enabling the fire apparatus to get away in four directions.

MACON'S POLICE CHIEF HERE, LAUDS VICE SQUAD

Chief George S. Riley, of the Macon police force, was in Atlanta Wednesday and called on his colleagues, James L. Beavers, chief of the Atlanta police. The Macon officer is in this part of the state on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. George Jordan, of Fairburn. He bears no mark of his recent rather sensational encounter with a woman blind tiger in Macon.

"Are you getting a line on Atlanta's vice squad?" a reporter asked him. "No, but I'd like to," he answered. "It's very interesting."

DAIRYMAN IS CHARGED WITH WATERING MILK

H. A. Frye, an Atlanta dairyman, is to be tried in superior court for a violation of the state's pure food laws, it being alleged by pure food inspectors that Frye is guilty of having watered milk sold from his dairy.

Agricultural Commissioner Price Wednesday morning cited the complaint to Solicitor General Turner, which means the department recommends the prosecution of Frye.

Commissioner Price is investigating alleged violations of the pure food laws and in the next few days will hold several hearings.

A Clearaway of Crepe de Chine and Taffeta Waists That Were $5 & $5.75 at $3.19

Perhaps one-hundred-fifty have been caught in this price upheaval. Indeed, it was the quantity that brought the prices down so drastically. No other reason, for the waists are those women want for wear with their spring suits.

Every one a model fresh this season.

We say they are crepe de chine and French taffeta waists, but included, too, are a scattering few of chiffon and lace, of crinkle crepes. The trimmings are plaits and ruffles and neckings; set in and kimono sleeves and drop shoulders; high and low necks; full and half length sleeves. Choose the color that matches your suit. One would hardly expect to save on the purchase on such waists as these.

$1 and $1.50 Guimpes 50c

Shadow laces and nets, tucked or plain; high neck and long sleeves. The majority are white; there are a few blacks in the lot. Priced at one-half and one-third their value because they are an odd few.

Crepe de Chine Waists at $3.45 and $3.75

Remarkable values! See them; white crepe de chine waists with low, flat collars, drop shoulders, blouses; sleeves and collars often set in with hemstitching and then much plaiting and ruffling are used. They are worth more than their prices!

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

A Clearaway of Crepe de Chine and Taffeta Waists That Were $5 & $5.75 at $3.19

Perhaps one-hundred-fifty have been caught in this price upheaval. Indeed, it was the quantity that brought the prices down so drastically. No other reason, for the waists are those women want for wear with their spring suits.

Every one a model fresh this season.

We say they are crepe de chine and French taffeta waists, but included, too, are a scattering few of chiffon and lace, of crinkle crepes. The trimmings are plaits and ruffles and neckings; set in and kimono sleeves and drop shoulders; high and low necks; full and half length sleeves. Choose the color that matches your suit. One would hardly expect to save on the purchase on such waists as these.

$1 and $1.50 Guimpes 50c

Shadow laces and nets, tucked or plain; high neck and long sleeves. The majority are white; there are a few blacks in the lot. Priced at one-half and one-third their value because they are an odd few.

Crepe de Chine Waists at $3.45 and $3.75

Remarkable values! See them; white crepe de chine waists with low, flat collars, drop shoulders, blouses; sleeves and collars often set in with hemstitching and then much plaiting and ruffling are used. They are worth more than their prices!

Novelty Suitings, one after another, including the gabardines. The colorings are rich. $2.00 to $3.00 a yard. 54 to 56 inches wide.

REBELS REPULSED WITH HEAVY LOSS AT TORREON

Member of Mexican Federal Consul Service Says News of Defeat Is Official

(By Associated Press.)
EL PASO, Tex., March 25.—Miguel del Rio, consul of the Mexican federal consul service, said today he had been officially informed that the rebels were repulsed with heavy loss at Torreon, and that some of them were driven back twenty miles.

Wounded Rebels Brought North in Large Numbers

BERNARDILLO, Mexico, March 25.—
By Courier to El Paso, March 25.—
The wounded rebels were brought north in large numbers and it is officially admitted the rebels put on an unexpectedly strong resistance at Torreon.

Rebel Troops Marching On Garrison at Las Vacas

EAGLE PASS, Tex., March 25.—Seven hundred constitutionalists are reported moving down the Rio Grande toward Las Vacas, opposite Rio, Tex., and a battle is expected between this body of troops and the federal garrison at Las Vacas.

Eagerly Await News at Headquarters of Rebels

JUARIZ, Mexico, March 25.—The aid of officers at rebel headquarters throughout the night continued today without authoritative information as to the outcome of the fighting at Torreon.

Wanted a Typewriter, but It Caused a War Scare

VALLEJO, Cal., March 25.—The fact that a typewriter machine was needed by one of the United States warships now in Mexican waters was responsible for a "war scare" at the Mare Island navy yard yesterday.

Information leaked out that the collier Justin, which has been ordered to Matto, was put in at San Diego, and a rumor was circulated that the purpose of the ship was to take aboard ammunition for the fighting vessels stationed at Mexican and other ports.

Captain Frank M. Bennett, commandant at the yard, exploded the war talk last night with the following statement: "The collier will stop at San Diego and pick up an extra typewriter now on the way there. If any talk has arisen from the order, I am sorry to hear it.
I am sure that one of the vessels in Mexican waters is shy a machine, and therefore the collier must take one down there. Typewriters are indispensable in modern warfare."

TO DECIDE ON DATE FOR HOSPITAL BOND ELECTION

Committee Meets Wednesday Afternoon and Probably Will Ask Council for Early Vote

The committee in charge of the movement to raise money to enlarge and improve Grady hospital will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Lewy National bank for the purpose of deciding on a date which the general council will be asked to call a bond election.

"The committee is agreed that the only way to raise the funds necessary is by issuing bonds, the amount needed being $750,000. The committee is inclined to favor an early vote for the bond election, and may ask council to fix May 5, on which date the county primary is to be held.

It will be claimed that the interest and the sinking fund on the above amount of bonds can be paid with the revenue from a new pay ward, which it is proposed to build with part of the bond money.

This, being the case, the bonds would not impose any additional burden whatever upon the current income of the city government.

The present pay ward at Grady yields a substantial monthly revenue. In fact, every pay patient pays a part of his
of a free patient, so that if the number of patients should be increased to equal the number of free patients, the hospital would then become a self-supporting institution.

The argument that the pay ward will take care of the sinking fund and interest is expected to carry great weight with the people, and on this idea it is believed the people will authorize the issue.

"Cleaning Up day," said Mrs. Lumpkin, "was inaugurated six years ago by the federation and each year since has been marked by greater effort toward making Atlanta the city beautiful that we all wish to see. We hope that the entire city will cooperate with the chamber of commerce and the club women in their efforts for 1914."

Perry Knocked Donnelly Out In Third Round

Pittsburg Boy Found Hoosier Battler Easy and Put Him Out Early in the Fray—Three Good Preliminaries Furnish Most of Entertainment of Evening

It required just three rounds for Jimmy Perry to hand a sleep punch to Howard Donnelly at the Georgia Athletic club Tuesday night. Incidentally, it required a little less than one frame for Donnelly to realize the fact that he was in for an awful beating at the hands of Perry. Perry preceded Donnelly into the ring, and when the latter climbed in, he lost little time in stripping down to his fighting togs. Some little delay in adjusting Perry's gloves gave Donnelly full opportunity to think the matter over, and he was plainly nervous.

When the gong tapped the two went at each other in hammer-and-tongs fashion. At first Donnelly appeared to have something, but he was soon overpowered by Perry's superior strength. Perry kept right on top of him, with terrific ax-like blows, and the first round was finished Donnelly could see the light. He took several vicious blows in the second and third rounds. In the third round he fell, and Perry mauling him all around the ring, right smack to the head, and he fell.

The Jackets were victorious in the second round, and the Medics were so badly beaten that they were forced to quit. Billikens Get Two from Rickey BIRMINGHAM, March 25.—Palmer Woodcock and Hollander, the latter a former baseball star of Georgetown university, were released last night to the Montgomery club in the Southern league by the St. Louis Americans, according to an official announcement. Woodcock is a first baseman, while Hollander is a shortstop. Manager Gillette of the Billikens was in Birmingham yesterday and took possession of the players, having been requested by Manager Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis team, to come here for that purpose.

Class Games Begun at Emory

Juniors Defeat Seniors and Sophomores Beat Freshmen, Both Games One-Sided

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) EMORY COLLEGE, Oxford, Ga., March 25.—After Emory's interclass baseball season was opened upon Tuesday afternoon with a double-header, the standing is:

The scheduled games did not approach an interesting stage, as they were both one-sided. The first game was stopped on the brink of an uprising from the spectators' standpoint when the score was 15 to 4, with the Juniors holding the big end over the Seniors. The second game with the Sophomores and Freshmen playing reached eight innings and was then stopped, the score 21 to 1 in favor of the Sophomores.

University of Chattanooga Cancels Schedule.
The University of Chattanooga has canceled its 1914 baseball schedule. The action was taken after Ellis, the pitcher of the team, had been rendered ineligible by the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association because he was late in matriculating. When the schedule named Chattanooga was not yet in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association's hands, the school had canceled its schedule.

WE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE BUSH LEAGUER'S DREAM.
The young recruit stood dreaming where the sultry sun was beaming. With the perspiration streaming down his neck: He had dreamed four easy chances, which aroused some angry glances. And he saw his big league fancies were a wreck; He had been far from ecstatic, "Chase that cheese!" Yell in tones far from ecstatic, "Chase that cheese!" Whereupon he drew a vision that was all to the Elysian. And he spoke with much decision words like these:

CHORUS
If I only had the footwork of Bill Ryan, If I only had his reach in sparring clay, If I could make a play with it— Could hold out and get away with it— Like New York politicians out of jail; If I only had a batting eye like Teddy, Or could steal with certain railroad owners' stealth, I'd be the diamond dandy and I'd set the blenchers crazy And I wouldn't be here playing for my health.

Matty is only making trips to those Texas towns blessed with first-class golf courses. He may refuse to make a trip to Boston this spring and summer unless the traps are added to the seventh hole at Brookline and cup bunkers are inserted around the fourth hole at Myopia.

SUGGESTING A FEW SIMILES.
"Can go and get on in any direction, covers ground like another Bryan." "Stands up at bat like Villa; is great on the hit-and-run." "Not much of a hitter, but looks like President when it comes to waiting 'em out."

IN A THREE CLUB LEAGUE.
Contrary to reports, this is not Mr. C. P. Tat's first venture in directing a ball club. In the late preliminary league race he managed and directed Brother William H. finishing as high up as third place.

Murphy bought the Cubs in 1906 for $105,000, and eight years later, with strong cash backing, he refused $770,000 for the team. He is now a member of the league. Yet the sale to be acquired from a baseball franchise, as we are led to understand, is limited. This reminds us that we'd also like to be "limited" to a net increase of $10,000 in the next eight seasons.

There's no reason why Joe Wood shouldn't be in first-class shape by the middle of April. Lifting an appendix from the human frame is no longer a technical operation. Some years ago Gus Dundon, the veteran, who had been traded to New Orleans, had his appendix evicted on the 1st day of April. The Southern league season opened on the 12th of the same month and Gus was on the job at second.

Which brings in an epitaph from E. J. T. of Atlantic, Mass. He writes in to suggest that if Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker are getting between $15,000 and $20,000 a year, that Walter Johnson ought to be getting twice this much. He writes, "I think Johnson is worth a whole team. Cobb and Speaker and I am saying this in the face of the fact that I am a rabid Red Sox fan. Johnson is of much more value to a club in 45 games than Cobb or Speaker are in 124. Am I right or wrong?"

If we had the pick of any one man in baseball we'd take Johnson. We put the same question to six big league managers last year and our men told the same thing without a pause. Cobb or Speaker will figure at around 600 times a year. Johnson will figure at around 1,000 times a year. Johnson is worth a whole team. Cobb and Speaker are worth a whole team.

After observing Vardon and Ray against Outmet and Covey against Gould we are constrained to remark: What has become of the old-fashioned professional that used to take an amateur by the scruff of the neck and shake his molars loose?

Eggers to Meet Grant Mar. 31

Battle Between These Two Bantams Should Prove One of the Best Cards of the Local Season

The next big bout to be offered fans, the ten-round affair between Jimmy Grant and K. O. Eggers at the Orpheum theater Tuesday, March 31, promises to be one of the best scraps of the season for local fans.

Both these boys have shown their star ability before Atlanta boxing fans. Jimmy Grant is the idol and hope of Atlanta in the boxing game at the present time, and he will probably be backed to the limit when he steps into the ring with his eastern rival.

Jimmy has made a big hit in this city, early through his gentlemanly ways, and also through his great boxing ability. Jimmy has never been extended around here, but he has shown enough to warrant local fans that he will meet the greatest local player of boxing machinery he has ever been asked to tackle.

Charlie White once said in Chicago that Grant was another Ad. Wolcott, and Jimmy certainly resembles the famous Dutchman in action. A great two-handed hitter, Jimmy is always set to hit, and some puncher he is.

In Eggers, however, Grant will be meeting a worthy foe. Eggers handled Kid Young like a baby and proved that night that it will take an awful good boy to beat him. He will probably enter the ring a slight favorite over the local bantam.

Two other exciting ten-round bouts will also be on the card making three rounds of boxing in all.
